VI . Budget

VII . Direction of promoting the creation of an age-friendly city in Wanju-gun

IBackgrounds

- The proportion of older people aged 65 or over in Wanju-gun was 24.1% (22,002 people) as of the end of August 2021, which entered the 'super-aged society' and is expected to increase steadily thereafter.
- The aging population requires systematic preparation for problems such as a lack of labor due to a decrease in the working population, a decrease in urban vitality due to an increase in older people living alone, an increase in social costs for elderly support, and an increase in the poverty rate and suicide rate of older people.
- Accordingly, it is necessary to create an age-friendly city with high quality of life for the residents of Wanju-gun through the creation of a livable urban environment where all generations in the region can coexist, the establishment of a vibrant and healthy welfare city, and the construction of a lifelong city with high quality of life.
- Therefore, it is necessary to create an age-friendly city with a high quality of life for the people of Wanju-gun by creating a city where all generations of the region want to live for a lifetime, as well as a city friendly only for current older people.
- In particular, it is necessary to preemptively respond to aging society through international information sharing through joining the WHO Global Network for Age-friendly Cities and Communities.

II Directions

- Basically, the primary purpose was to establish a detailed action plan for an age-friendly city by reflecting the 8 areas of the establishment of an age-friendly city proposed by the WHO to create an age-friendly city in Wanju-gun.
- Furthermore, in order to respond to the aging society, the purpose of this plan is to diagnose the age-friendly community environment of Wanju-gun and draw appropriate policy alternatives to join the global network of age-friendly cities hosted by the WHO.
- The age-friendly city action plan reflects the results of the age-friendly survey and FGI for residents and experts, and selects the implementation project through consultation between administrative organizations.

III Project Structure

ⅦDirection of promoting the creation of an age-friendly city in Wanju-gun

- In order to create an age-friendly city for the vibrant life in old age of Wanju-gun, the will of the head of the local government and continuous attention and effort are required.

- Securing the continuity of the implementation project to build an age-friendly city
 - In order to enhance the completeness of the basic plan for an age-friendly city, we will secure continuity so that implementation projects for 8 major areas can be carried out smoothly based on the active participation of local residents.

- Promoting structural integration of 8 major areas
 - Since the components of 8 major areas of an age-friendly city are structured in a combined dimension and affect between areas rather than exist as independent areas, we intend to establish an organic relationship with each other.

- Securing the execution power of implementation project of an age-friendly city
 - 69 implementation projects selected by the basic plan for an age-friendly city will be promoted and managed by each department in charge, and the practical power of the implementation project will be secured by comprehensively evaluating whether each implementation project is carried out.

- Cooperation between departments on the promotion of implementation projects of an age-friendly city
- In order to create Wanju-gun as an age-friendly city, cooperative promotion between departments on implementation projects is necessary. Therefore, through cooperation and common efforts between the relevant departments of Wanju-gun Office, we will select and implement tasks to continuously improve the level of age-friendliness
