The letter of commitment from the Mayor of Bueng Yitho Municipality to join the WHO Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities

To Whom It May Concern

This letter is a formal commitment, signed by the Mayor of Bueng Yitho Municipality, to join the WHO Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities. As an active member of the Thai Age-friendly Cities Network, Bueng Yitho Municipality pledges to further evaluate and enhance its age-friendliness in alignment with the principles outlined in the WHO guide for national programs on Age-friendly cities and communities.

Our commitment includes developing a comprehensive action plan that improves the social, cultural, and physical environments of our city, fostering healthy and active aging. Drawing from our experiences and new insights, we will focus on creating inclusive and accessible environments that respect the autonomy and diversity of older residents. Moreover, Bueng Yitho Municipality agrees to collaborate closely with other Age-friendly cities globally, actively participating in the worldwide program promoting Age-friendly environments. This includes fostering partnerships and innovative approaches as outlined in the WHO guide. We are dedicated to contributing to a national and global effort to create communities where people of all ages can thrive.

By becoming a member of the WHO Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities, we commit to adhering to its goals and procedures, ensuring continuous monitoring and evaluation of our progress. Our dedication to this initiative reflects our belief in creating a city that values and supports its older residents, ensuring their well-being and active participation in community life.

We look forward to the opportunities and collaborations that membership in the WHO Global Network will bring and are enthusiastic about the positive impact this will have on our community.
