3. Setting performance indicators

- Developed an evaluation plan for an age-friendly city of Pocheon-si by dividing it by evaluation methods (quantitative evaluation / qualitative evaluation) as well as by evaluation subjects (internal evaluation / external evaluation).
- Assessment by project (quantitative + internal assessment)
 - Progress of each project will be judged either as ‘achieved,’ ‘in-progress,’ ‘insufficient,’ or ‘adjustment.’

Project Scorecard

Classification	Details
Achieved (●)	The project achieved 100% or more of the target performance
Progress (◐)	The project has not yet achieved target performance
Insufficient (○)	The project has not started yet or is experiencing difficulties
Modification (▷)	Adjustment of target performance

- Enterprise-wide assessment (qualitative + internal)
 - Internal evaluation on each project by the departments uses ‘Management by Object(MBO)’
 - Evaluation of project objectives and annual objectives against the Annual Plan for the Age-Friendly City
 - Evaluate the project by four categories of planning implementation, execution, and the participation and satisfaction of local residents

■ Policy perception assessment (qualitative + external assessment)

- Policy perception is measured by external evaluators (citizens, seniors).
- The assessment evaluates the eight areas outlined by the WHO.
- Responses are measured on a 5-point Likert scale of strongly disagree, disagree, neutral, agree, and strongly agree.
- Policy perception surveys should be conducted every two years and should be similar to panel surveys so that long-term trends can be compared and analyzed.
