1. Key Achievements

○ Overall: Continued Expansion of the Overall Scale of Initiatives

- Yangcheon-gu implemented a total of 312 Age-Friendly City initiatives during the Cycle 2 implementation period (2022–2025)
- The number of initiatives decreased slightly from 79 in 2022 to 74 in 2023, but increased steadily thereafter, reaching 83 initiatives in 2025

○ Key Domains: Focused Investment in Health, Welfare, and Social Participation

- Community and Health Care: This domain accounted for the largest share of initiatives during the Cycle 2 implementation period, with the number of initiatives increasing significantly from 23 (29.1%) in 2022 to 31 (37.4%) in 2025, reflecting a proactive response to the growing demand for older adult care
- Social Participation: The domain consistently maintained more than 20 initiatives each year (averaging approximately 27% of all initiatives), providing strong support for older adults' social participation and leisure activities

○ Trend: Shift from Infrastructure to Care and Safety Nets

- Outdoor Spaces and Buildings: The number of initiatives gradually declined from 8 (10.1%) in 2022 to 5 (6.0%) in 2025
- Transportation and Housing: The Transportation (1–2 initiatives) and Housing (4–5 initiatives) domains consistently maintained a relatively small number of initiatives throughout the implementation period
- Employment and Communication and Information: The Employment domain experienced a temporary decline of two initiatives in 2023 before recovering, while the Communication and Information domain showed fluctuations in the number of initiatives, indicating that additional measures should be considered in the next implementation plan

2. Performance Analysis by the 8 Domains

3. Summary of Performance Analysis by Domain

- The Social Participation and Communication and Information domains consistently achieved high completion rates of 80–100% each year despite implementing a large number of initiatives
- The Community and Health Care domain maintained completion rates of 60–80% despite an increase in the number of initiatives, while the Respect and Social Integration (57.1%) and Employment (50%) domains experienced a decline in completion rates in 2025, indicating that additional measures should be incorporated into the next implementation plan

IV

Outcomes of the Cycle 2 Age-Friendly City Monitoring Group

1. Overview

- Composition of the Monitoring Group: 29 members in total

Age Group	20–39	40–64	65 and older
Members	2 (7%)	11 (38%)	16 (55%)

- Term: Two years (Nov. 25, 2024–Nov. 24, 2026)
- Key Roles and Functions
 - Survey and monitor initiatives related to Age-Friendly City development
 - Monitor older adults’ daily-life inconveniences; identify and propose practical improvement measures

2. Key Activities

- Survey Period: Mon, Nov. 3–Fri, Nov. 14, 2025
- Survey Participants: 28 members of the 4th Yangcheon-gu Age-Friendly City Monitoring Group
- Survey Method: Distributed paper questionnaires and collected opinions through the network of affiliated regional implementing organizations (welfare centers, etc.) of the Monitoring Group
- Survey Content: Assessment of perceived satisfaction across the WHO’s eight domains of Age-Friendly Cities and Communities

3. Survey Results by Domain

- Summary and Overall Evaluation
 - Need for Improved Infrastructure: There were strong calls for improvements to physical infrastructure, including the expansion of accessibility and convenience features (e.g., elevators, low-floor buses, rental housing) and everyday safety features (e.g., grab bars, pedestrian walkways) in domains such as Outdoor Spaces and Buildings, Transportation, and Housing
 - Enhancing the Quality of Welfare Policies: Respondents called for meaningful improvements beyond simply expanding employment opportunities and providing information, including the “creation of professional employment opportunities,” “intergenerational education digital literacy education to prevent digital isolation,” and the “establishment of an integrated one-stop healthcare and care service system”

○ Specific Feedback by the 8 Domains

No.	Domain	Inspection Details	Key Feedback & Monitoring Group's Recommendation
1	Outdoor Spaces and Buildings	Buildings are equipped with sufficient facilities for older adults and other vulnerable groups.	- Overall, accessibility facilities are well established. - Expand age-friendly facilities in public institutions, such as wheelchair-accessible routes and elevators. - Expand accessible public restrooms and outdoor rest areas in apartment complexes.
2	Transportation	Traffic signals, crosswalks, and other transportation infrastructure provide a safe environment for travel. Transportation convenience services are sufficiently available.	- Expand the deployment of low-floor buses and increase the proportion of priority seating for older adults and other mobility priority passengers. - Install more benches and shade shelters at bus stops to improve travel convenience. - Promote the use of vehicle stickers identifying drivers aged 70 and older. - Designate safe pedestrian walkways on neighborhood back streets (local roads).
3	Housing	Home modification programs tailored to the needs of older adults are needed. A variety of public and private rental housing options is available.	- Support the installation of additional stair handrails to improve residential safety. - Expand the supply of diverse rental housing options to enhance housing stability for older adults. - Increase the supply of housing designed specifically to meet the needs of older adults.
4	Social Participation	Older adults are provided with information and opportunities to participate in events and activities.	- Establish an accompaniment service for outdoor activities to help prevent social isolation. - Expand participatory educational programs that encourage civic and social engagement among older adults.
5	Respect and Social Integration	Opinions of older adults are regularly sought to inform policies affecting them. Intergenerational integration is actively promoted.	- The existing system for collecting residents' feedback is generally well established. - Develop policies that engage people of all ages, including persons with disabilities, rather than focusing on specific population groups. - Expand intergenerational engagement through youth-older adult matching programs that provide training on kiosks and AI technologies.
6	Employment	Sufficient high-quality employment opportunities are available for older adults.	- Reduce reliance on short-term, low-skilled jobs. - Create high-quality employment opportunities that make use of older adults' professional expertise and support long-term employment.

No.	Domain	Inspection Details	Key Feedback & Monitoring Group's Recommendation
7	Communication and Information	Information needed for daily life is provided in a timely manner.	• Provide ongoing digital literacy education, including AI-related training, to help prevent social isolation among older adults. • Install dedicated information boards for older adults on the ground floor of community service centers. • Develop an integrated information system that is intuitive and easy for older adults to understand.
8	Community and Health Care	Hospitals and public health centers in Yangcheon-gu are conveniently located. Care services are available when needed.	• Public health and medical infrastructure and access to care services within the district are generally good. • Expand educational programs on health screenings to promote preventive healthcare. • Strengthen the role of specialized healthcare and care institutions, including the Dementia Relief Center. • Establish an integrated one-stop healthcare and welfare service through stronger cooperation between welfare centers and medical institutions.

V

Overall Evaluation and Implications of the Cycle 2 Age-Friendly City Initiative

1. Overall Evaluation and Implications

○ Laying a Solid Foundation for Responding to Population Aging

- Yangcheon-gu has systematically implemented consistent age-friendly policies since joining the GNAFCC in 2018 and successfully renewing its membership for a second term in 2022
- These efforts have served as a key driver in fulfilling the commitments of the 8th elected local administration while establishing Yangcheon-gu as a leading model for age-friendly communities that distinguishes it from other local governments

○ Need for a Proactive Response to a Super-aged Society

- Approaching Super-aged Society Status: As of December 2025, older adults accounted for approximately 19.8% of Yangcheon-gu's population, placing the district on the verge of reaching the 20% threshold for a super-aged society
- Transition to a Sustainable Policy Paradigm: With Yangcheon-gu expected to enter a super-aged society during the Cycle 3 implementation period (2026–2030), it will be necessary to move beyond selective welfare policies and establish a comprehensive age-friendly policy framework encompassing housing, transportation, employment, and other key domains

Overview of the Development of the Cycle 3 Age-Friendly City Master Plan

1. Analysis of Population Aging Trends and Conditions in Yangcheon-gu

1) Population Aging Status and Trends in Yangcheon-gu

- Approaching Super-aged Society: As of 2025, the proportion of Yangcheon-gu residents aged 65 and older had reached 19.84%, an increase of 4.53 percentage points from 15.31% in 2021, placing the district on the verge of becoming a super-aged society

[Population Aging Status in Yangcheon-gu (2021–2025)]

2) Current Status of Living Areas

- Southwestern Region and Five Living Areas: Yangcheon-gu is located in Seoul's southwestern region and its 18 administrative dongs are divided into five local living areas
- Regional Characteristics: Mok-dong is characterized by education and residential communities, Sinjeong-dong by active reconstruction and redevelopment projects, and Sinwol-dong by predominantly low-rise residential neighborhoods

[Current Status of Yangcheon-gu Living Areas]

Living Area	Administrative District	Population	Area (ha)
Mok-dong Area 1	Mok 2-dong, Mok 3-dong, Mok 4-dong	83,689 (16.8% of Yangcheon-gu's population)	213 (12.2% of Yangcheon-gu's area)
Mok-dong Area 2	Mok 1-dong, Mok 5-dong, Sinjeong 2-dong, Sinjeong 6-dong, Sinjeong 7-dong	161,061 (32.4% of Yangcheon-gu's population)	590 (33.9% of Yangcheon-gu's area)
Sinwol-dong Area 1	Sinwol 1-dong, Sinwol 3-dong, Sinwol 5-dong	59,123 (11.9% of Yangcheon-gu's population)	221 (12.7% of Yangcheon-gu's area)
Sinwol-dong Area 2	Sinwol 2-dong, Sinwol 4-dong, Sinwol 6-dong, Sinwol 7-dong	78,203 (15.7% of Yangcheon-gu's population)	273 (15.7% of Yangcheon-gu's area)
Sinjeong-dong Area	Sinjeong 1-dong, Sinjeong 3-dong, Sinjeong 4-dong	114,858 (23.1% of Yangcheon-gu's population)	443 (25.5% of Yangcheon-gu's area)

3) Key Characteristics by Living Area

- Mok-dong Areas 1 and 2 (Education and Administrative Hub)
 - Regional Characteristics: Home to one of Seoul's leading school districts and a major education hub
 - Housing Renewal: Large-scale reconstruction of Mok-dong New Town and low-rise residential renewal through the Mok 4-dong Moa Town project
 - Industry and Economy: Concentration of broadcasting and media facilities, while serving as a bedroom community for nearby business districts such as Yeouido and Magok-dong
- Sinjeong-dong Areas 1 and 2 (Residential and Transit-oriented Area)
 - Regional Characteristics: Sharing a living area with Mok-dong, where established residential complexes coexist with newly developed housing
 - Housing Renewal: Creation of large-scale new residential neighborhoods through the Sinjeong New Town development project
 - Development Trends: Amendments to district unit plans around major transit stations and expansion of neighborhood-oriented public infrastructure
- Sinwol-dong Area (Residential and Green Area)
 - Regional Characteristics: Characterized by densely clustered low-rise residential neighborhoods and abundant green space
 - Key Challenges: Need to mitigate aircraft noise and ease height restrictions due to the area's proximity to Gimpo Airport
 - Development Strategy: Strengthen green-space assets through integration with Seoseoul Lake Park, while promoting renewal of aging housing and enhancing commercial functions

2. Principles for Developing the Cycle 3 Master Plan

- Creating a Smart and Safe City Where People Want to Live for a Lifetime: Based on the WHO's definition, an Age-Friendly City is one where not only older adults but all residents can age in harmony. The Cycle 3 Master Plan places particular emphasis on creating a smart and safe environment where older adults remain socially connected despite physical and social changes, expand opportunities for social participation through digital technologies, and enjoy a community in which people of all ages want to live throughout their lives.
- Establishing a Yangcheon-gu Model Tailored to Local Needs through Local Ordinances: The plan promotes effective initiatives consistent with the objectives of the Yangcheon-gu Ordinance on the Creation of an Age-Friendly City. The WHO's eight domains will be translated into implementation tasks tailored to Yangcheon-gu's local characteristics to strengthen older adult welfare and build a sustainable Age-Friendly City.
- Building an Inclusive Welfare Infrastructure that Benefits All Generations: To support a vibrant later life, the plan will further improve mobility and enhance a barrier-free urban environment. These benefits will extend beyond older adults to all members of the community. The goal is to foster "Yangcheon-gu as an integrated, livable community for all generations," where children, youth, women, persons with disabilities, and older adults can live together safely and conveniently.
- Building on and Enhancing the Achievements of the Cycle 2 Age-Friendly City Initiative: The Cycle 3 Master Plan builds on the achievements of the Cycle 2 Age-Friendly City Initiative through quantitative and qualitative evaluations. Successful initiatives will be expanded and sustained, while those requiring improvement will be enhanced by incorporating smart technologies and community-based care systems in response to changing needs.
- Promoting Older Adults' Autonomy and a Flexible, Personalized Response System: Recognizing the diversity of the older adult population—including one-person households and active seniors—the plan respects individual choice by addressing a wide range of needs and preferences. It also aims to establish demand-driven, personalized policies that respond flexibly to evolving social risks and individual circumstances.

2. Phased Plan

Phase 1 (2026): Establish the Foundation for the Cycle 3 Age-Friendly City

- Key Objective: Finalize detailed implementation tasks across the WHO's eight domains for membership in and Cycle 3 certification as an Age-Friendly City; establish an interdepartmental framework for coordinated implementation
- Implementation Direction: Identify age-friendly environments and facilities that align with the key priorities of Yangcheon-gu's 9th elected administration and make daily life more convenient for older adults

Phase 2 (2027–2029): Advance Age-Friendly City Initiatives

- Key Objective: Fully implement the initiatives finalized for each domain in Phase 1; expand tailored welfare services to meet the needs of the growing older population and respond to conditions on the ground
- Implementation Direction: Hold regular annual meetings of the Age-Friendly City Committee; actively incorporate feedback from the Monitoring Group; continuously improve policy quality so that residents can experience tangible benefits in their daily lives

Phase 3 (2030): Complete Yangcheon-gu's Leading Age-Friendly City Model

- Key Objective: Firmly establish throughout the community a distinctive and sustainable age-friendly model unique to Yangcheon-gu
- Implementation Direction: Carefully assess the effectiveness of implemented initiatives based on actual outcomes and resident satisfaction data; complete a sustainable system that enables Yangcheon-gu to prepare comprehensively for the coming super-aged society
