Explanatory

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

These regulations, which come into force on 28 February 2008, revoke and replace the Smoke-free Environments Regulations 1999 (the existing regulations).

Part 2 specifies new labelling requirements for retail packages of tobacco products. The new requirements are based on and are intended to have the same effect as the equivalent Australian legislation. They require most retail packages of tobacco products to display the following:

- a warning message, comprising a brief warning in English and te reo Māori about the effects of smoking; and
- a corresponding explanatory message, comprising a longer explanation of the brief warning and details of the Quitline telephone number that people who want to quit smoking may call; and
- a corresponding graphic that must appear alongside the warning message and corresponding explanatory message.

In addition, retail packages of cigarettes, loose or pipe tobacco, and cigars must display an information message on the side of the package.

The provisions in Part 3 are carried over from the existing regulations. These deal with—

- the content of price lists that must be given to retailers of tobacco products;
- the requirement for manufactured cigarettes to be tested and the standards for testing;
- the display of retailers' names and trade names outside shops where any tobacco product is available;
- the return and report that must be filed under section 35(1) of the Smoke-free Environments Act 1990.

Issued under the authority of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989.
Date of notification in Gazette: 1 March 2007.

Notes

1 General

This is a reprint of the Smoke-free Environments Regulations 2007. The reprint incorporates all the amendments to the Smoke-free Environments Regulations 2007 as at 2 March 2007, as specified in the list of amendments at the end of these notes.

Relevant provisions of any amending enactments that have yet to come into force or that contain relevant transitional or savings provisions are also included, after the principal enactment, in chronological order.

2 Status of reprints

Under section 16D of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, reprints are presumed to correctly state, as at the date of the reprint, the law enacted by the principal enactment and by the amendments to that enactment. This presumption applies even though editorial changes authorised by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 have been made in the reprint.

This presumption may be rebutted by producing the official volumes of statutes or statutory regulations in which the principal enactment and its amendments are contained.

3 How reprints are prepared

A number of editorial conventions are followed in the preparation of reprints. For example, the enacting words are not included in Acts, and provisions that are repealed or revoked are omitted. For a detailed list of the editorial conventions, see <http://www.pco.parliament.govt.nz/legislation/reprints.shtml> or Part 8 of the Tables of Acts and Ordinances and Statutory Regulations, and Deemed Regulations in Force.

4 Changes made under section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989

Section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 authorises the making of editorial changes in a reprint as set out in sections 17D and 17E of that Act so that, to the extent permitted, the format and style of the reprinted enactment is consistent with current legislative drafting practice. Changes that would alter the effect of the legislation are not permitted. A new format of legislation was introduced on 1 January 2000. Changes to legislative drafting style have also been made since 1997, and are ongoing. To the extent permitted by section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, all legislation reprinted after 1 January 2000 is in the new format for legislation and reflects current drafting practice at the time of the reprint.

In outline, the editorial changes made in reprints under the authority of section 17C of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989 are set out below, and they have been applied, where relevant, in the preparation of this reprint:

- omission of unnecessary referential words (such as “of this section” and “of this Act”)
- typeface and type size (Times Roman, generally in 11.5 point)
- layout of provisions, including:
 - indentation
 - position of section headings (eg, the number and heading now appear above the section)
- format of definitions (eg, the defined term now appears in bold type, without quotation marks)
- format of dates (eg, a date formerly expressed as “the 1st day of January 1999” is now expressed as “1 January 1999”)

- position of the date of assent (it now appears on the front page of each Act)
- punctuation (eg, colons are not used after definitions)
- Parts numbered with roman numerals are replaced with arabic numerals, and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- case and appearance of letters and words, including:
 - format of headings (eg, headings where each word formerly appeared with an initial capital letter followed by small capital letters are amended so that the heading appears in bold, with only the first word (and any proper nouns) appearing with an initial capital letter)
 - small capital letters in section and subsection references are now capital letters
- schedules are renumbered (eg, Schedule 1 replaces First Schedule), and all cross-references are changed accordingly
- running heads (the information that appears at the top of each page)
- format of two-column schedules of consequential amendments, and schedules of repeals (eg, they are rearranged into alphabetical order, rather than chronological).
