C332		Please provide a brief description of the progress made in implementing Article 17 (Provision of support for economically viable alternative activities) in the past two years or since submission of your last report. El Principado de Andorra es un pequeño país (microestado) con una superficie nacional de 468 km ² que se encuentra enclavado en su totalidad en un territorio de montaña situado en el centro de la cadena de los Pirineos, con un gradiente de altitud comprendido entre los 848 metros sobre el nivel del mar en su parte menos elevada y los 2.942 metros de altitud del pico más elevado del país (Comapedrosa), con una altitud media de 2.000 metros sobre el nivel del mar. Su superficie se distribuye de manera que el 90% de suelo se corresponde con las áreas de montaña que son de propiedad pública y está gestionado por las administraciones locales (Comuns) de las 7 parroquias que configuran la división territorial del país. El suelo público se corresponde en su mayoría con las zonas de montaña que se destinan des del punto de vista agrario al pastoreo para el aprovechamiento de las pasturas naturales alpinas (pasturas supra-forestales) y sólo el 10% del suelo se corresponde con suelo de propiedad privada, situado principalmente en las zonas de fondo de los valles que configuran nuestro territorio nacional, en las que se han implantado los principales núcleos urbanos y las principales infraestructuras de comunicación del país. Todas sus explotaciones agrarias estan situadas entre los 1.000 y 1.800 metros de altitud, en unas unas condiciones orográficas y climatológicas propias de un territorio de alta montaña, en el que el aprovechamiento agrario del territorio es difícil debido a las condiciones orográficas (zonas con fuerte pendiente), además de estar cubierto de nieve durante una tercera parte del año, normalmente des de finales de diciembre hasta finales del mes de marzo, o a veces, incluso hasta mediados del mes de mayo en la zonas más elevadas del país. La agricultura y en particular la cría del ganado mediante prácticas tradicionales (transumancia del ganado) fueron durante siglos y des de tiempos immemoriales la principal fuente de vida de su población debido al aislamiento geográfico del país, que hacia prácticamente imposible el desarrollo de cualquier otra actividad económica. Este modelo agrícola basado en la producción agraria para el autoconsumo familiar, incluía también el cultivo de determinados productos agrarios para la producción de alimentos (patatas, hortalizas, etc.), así como una minúscula producción de tabaco. Se ha estimado que la superficie agraria útil (SAU), en la que no se incluyen las zonas de pastoreo del suelo público, es de 2.000 hectáreas (4% de la totalidad de la superficie nacional). La mayoría de la SAU (84%) se destina a la producción de hierba (pradera natural), ya sea a través del pastoreo en caso de zonas de difícil acceso en las que se hace difícil el trabajo mecanizado o bien a través del aprovechamiento de prados para el corte y recolección de la hierba que se almacena y se destina a la alimentación del ganado durante las épocas del año en que este debe permanecer en las zonas menos elevadas del territorio o bien estabulado debido a las condiciones climáticas (finales de otoño, invierno y primavera). El 15% restante de la SAU se destina al cultivo para la producción de productos agrarios para la producción de alimentos (patata, viñedos y hortalizas principalmente) y sólo un 7% de la SAU se destina al cultivo del tabaco para su producción en rama, que una vez curado se vende a la industria de la transformación del tabaco del país. A partir de la mitad del siglo XIX, con la mejora de las vías de comunicación terrestre y la implantación de un nuevo modelo de desarrollo económico y social, basado principalmente en el turismo y otras actividades del sector servicios, Andorra sufre una importante transformación económica y social y se implanta en el país la industria de transformación del tabaco, que se nutre principalmente de tabaco importado que se acaba de condicionar por parte del sector industrial tabaquero y que se destina a la comercialización. El tabaco deviene un producto emblemático del turismo comercial que se desarrolla rápidamente debido a las diferencias de precios existentes de muchos bienes en relación a los precios que se aplican al territorio de la Unión Europea y en particular en el territorio de los países vecinos (España y Francia). Este nuevo entorno genera también una transformación del sector agrícola nacional y el cultivo del tabaco se empieza a desarrollar considerablemente, convirtiéndose en la principal fuente de ingresos económicos del sector primario, llegando a una producción máxima, a finales de la década de 1990, que se sitúa ligeramente por encima del millón de kilogramos (1 tonelada) de producción anual de tabaco en rama. Este contexto, conduce a que una parte de los agricultores cesen progresivamente el desarrollo de aquellas actividades agrarias más tradicionales y menos rentables, produciéndose una disminución de las actividades de producción y cría de ganado y el abandono del desarrollo de cultivos para la producción de alimentos. La explosión turística conlleva también un gran desarrollo urbanístico y por lo tanto una valorización del terreno privado destinado a la construcción de inmuebles, creando una dificultad añadida a la continuidad de las actividades agrarias y en particular las actividades ganaderas, aunque gracias a la mejora de los ingresos del sector agrario derivados del cultivo del tabaco, una parte del sector agrario más resiliente, se resiste a abandonar estas actividades y continúa manteniendo la producción agraria y ganadera. No obstante, a partir del año 2000, el sector de la producción del tabaco en rama (tabaco cultivado en Andorra) sufre una disminución muy importante debido a diferentes razones, entre las que destacan la implantación de franquicias al comercio del tabaco para los turistas que visitan Andorra a partir de la entrada en aplicación del Acuerdo comercial establecido entre Andorra y la Unión Europea el año 1990, el refuerzo progresivo de medidas de control del comercio ilícito del tabaco, la adaptación del marco fiscal andorrano a las normas fiscales internacionales que entre otras medidas conducen a que se apruebe una ley que fija el precio de venta del tabaco en función de la evolución del precio del tabaco en los territorios transfronterizos vecinos -España y Francia en particular- y una fuerte disminución del comercio del tabaco que también se asocia a una disminución del consumo de tabaco debido a su impacto sobre la salud de la personas. A raíz de esta situación, el sector primario decide establecer un sistema de cuotas que limita la cantidad de tabaco que se puede cultivar y su producción decrece drásticamente, más de un 70 % en muy pocos años, habiéndose estabilizado des del año 2000 en una producción alrededor de los 200.000 kg (0,2 toneladas) anuales, a pesar de haber sufrido una disminución superior hasta un mínimo de 122.000 kg durante el año 2020, a raíz de la crisis económica generada por la pandemia de la Covid-19 (ver gráfico adjunto). Fuente: Departamento de Estadística – Gobierno de Andorra Atendiendo esta situación y con la finalidad de poder asegurar la continuidad del sector primario, el año 2000 se aprueba la Ley de agricultura y ganadería . Esta ley tenía como objetivo principal la creación de un sistema de ayudas públicas a cargo del erario público (presupuesto nacional) destinadas a sostener el sector agrario nacional para poder asegurar su perdurabilidad y evitar que este pudiera desaparecer. La ley no incluye ningún tipo de ayuda pública destinada a favorecer el cultivo y la producción de tabaco en rama y crea un sistema con diferentes tipos o programas de ayudas públicas destinadas exclusivamente a fomentar y a favorecer la continuidad y el desarrollo del sector agrario, y en particular del sector ganadero, a través de la implantación de un modelo productivo en el que prevalecen la aplicación de prácticas de producción agropecuaria que respeten el medio ambiente y que toma en cuenta el papel que juega el sector agrario en la conservación del paisaje y la biodiversidad, que no dejan de ser un patrimonio público de gran valor y un elemento esencial del nuestro atractivo turístico, reconociendo la función que desarrolla el sector primario en beneficio del conjunto de la sociedad andorrana. En el marco del desarrollo reglamentario de esta ley se aprueban diferentes tipos de ayudas públicas destinadas a sostener el sector primario: los fondos de los valles a través del pastoralismo en el caso de zonas de fuerte pendiente, así com el corte y recolección de hierba para poder alimentar el ganado durante la época del año en la que este no puede pasturar y debe ser encerrado en los establos debido a las condiciones climatológicas. Al mismo tiempo el reglamento crea y establece diversos tipos de ayudas públicas destinada a fomentar la producción de productos alimentarios obtenidos a partir de procesos regulados de producción en los que se prima la obtención de productos de calidad que se puedan diferenciar en el mercado. En este sentido se crea el marco para la producción de carnes y productos lácteos obtenidos a partir de la cría y engorde de animales de la especie bovina, ovina, caprina y equina, que se comercializan con el sello de "Carn de qualitat controlada d'Andorra" o bajo el sello de la "IGP Carn d'Andorra", indicación geográfica protegida que fue reconocida y concedida por la Unión Europea a la carne de ternera que se produce en

Andorra "Carn d'Andorra" en el caso de la carne de ternera, a partir de las actividades de cultivo y de la producción de ganado que sean producidos bajo (agrícolas); - El año 2002 se aprueba el Reglamento que regula el programa de ayudas públicas destinadas a fomentar el desarrollo de planes de mejora del sector agrario. Este reglamento permite crear una partida presupuestaria a cargo del erario público que se destina principalmente a favorecer el desarrollo y implementación de planes para mejorar la rentabilidad económica de las explotaciones agraria, el fomento de prácticas agrícolas y ganaderas que respeten el medio ambiente y el fomento de la mejora de las condiciones sanitarias de las explotaciones agrarias, incluyendo en este último caso mejoras de la infraestructuras para el manejo y el bienestar de los animales (mejoras de las infraestructuras destinadas a la producción y cría del ganado), así como también a otros tipos de planes de mejora de la producción agraria (adquisición de maquinaria específica, mejora de parcelas destinadas a usos agrarios, mejora de sistemas de irrigación, etc.). Se establecen dos tipos de planes de mejora, los planes de mejora parciales (planes que comportan una inversión inferior a 12.000€) y planes de mejora integrales (planes que comportan una inversión superior a 12.000€). Las ayudas concedidas se atorgan en forma de subvención directa por un valor del 30% de las inversiones solicitadas, pudiéndose conceder un máximo de 55.000€ de ayuda para cada explotación agraria. Estas ayudas se pueden incrementar en función de que el solicitante sea un joven agricultor (una persona física o el representante de una persona jurídica titular de una explotación agraria hasta 40 años de edad), en el caso de que se trate de una primera instalación (creación de una nueva explotación agraria) o en el caso de que se trate de una solicitud de ayuda agrupada para favorecer el desarrollo de agrupaciones de explotaciones para poder obtener mejoras colectivas. Con este reglamento se crea también la denominada "Comisión de Agricultura y Ganadería" que integra técnicos de l'administración central (Departamento de Agricultura), representantes del sector agrario y ganadero y técnicos independientes, que tiene como misión evaluar las demandas o peticiones para la concesión de ayudas públicas para financiar planes de mejora de las explotaciones agrarias de acuerdo con los criterios establecidos y que acaba produciendo para cada petición individual o colectiva, un informe no vinculante, aunque si determinante, para que se pueda resolver la concesión, o dado el caso, denegar, las peticiones de ayudas que se puedan solicitar. - Posteriormente el año 2003 se aprobó el Reglamento de ayudas al fomento de planes de investigación y desarrollo agrario, que tiene como objetivo la concesión de ayudas, ya sea a título individual o bien a asociaciones profesionales agrarias, técnicos que puedan trabajar en el ámbito agrario y estudiantes universitarios que puedan estar interesados en el desarrollo de un trabajo de investigación vinculado al sector agrario. Este reglamento permite poner en marcha diferentes proyectos de investigación para el desarrollo de nuevos cultivos con la finalidad de poder estudiar su viabilidad para que se puedan implantar en el territorio. A título de ejemplo a partir de este reglamento se desarrolló un programa de investigación para el cultivo de viñedos y un programa de investigación para el cultivo de arándanos. A partir de los cuales se ha podido recuperar de nuevo el cultivo de la viña y se ha desarrollado un marco reglamentario para la producción de vinos que se comercializan bajo el sello distintivo "Vins de qualitat controlada d'Andorra" producidos a partir de variedades adaptadas al entorno de montaña y de fuerte pendiente contando actualmente con una producción de vinos diversos tipos de vinos heroicos de gran calidad que han obtenido múltiples premios en concursos internacionales, así como el reconocimiento por parte del CERVIM (<https://www.cervim.org/es/sobre-nosotros/cervim>), organismo internacional creado el año 1987 bajo la voluntad del OIV (Organización Internacional de la Viña y del Vino) para salvaguardar, apoyar y valorar la viticultura heroica (cultivo de la viña en zonas de montaña y otras zonas de fuerte pendiente y en zonas insulares). Al mismo tiempo también se ha iniciado recientemente la introducción del cultivo de arándanos a partir de variedades que se ha demostrado que se adaptan a nuestro entorno particular de montaña y que está contribuyendo a la diversificación de la producción agraria por parte de aquellas explotaciones agrarias que lo han implantado y que lo comercializan tanto en fresco durante la época de recolección, así como producto transformado en mermelada o confitura para poder maximizar su valorización. - Durante este mismo año 2003 se aprueba también el Reglamento de ayudas al fomento de la formación agraria, un reglamento que tiene como objetivo conceder ayudas individuales o colectivas para fomentar la formación continuada de los equipos humanos de las explotaciones agrarias en ámbitos diversos como pueden ser la técnicas de gestión empresarial, buenas prácticas agrarias, manejo y higiene de los animales de renda, procesos de calidad para la producción de productos agroalimentarios, desarrollo de prácticas de agricultura ecológica i agricultura integrada, técnica para la introducción de nuevos cultivos, buen uso de productos fitosanitarios y seguridad y higiene en el trabajo. El reglamento también permite conceder ayudas (becas) a personas que formen parte de los equipos humanos de las explotaciones agrarias que puedan estar interesadas en la realización de formaciones profesionales regladas en el ámbito agrario, que por lo general, deben realizar en organismos o escuelas de formación profesional de otros países atendiendo el hecho de que en Andorra no existe por razones evidentes debido a nuestra pequeña dimensión y población, estructuras formativas específicas destinadas a la formación profesional agraria. - El año 2009 se aprueba el Reglamento de las explotaciones agrarias pedagógicas, un reglamento que establece los criterios para que una explotación agraria pueda desarrollar actividades pedagógicas con la finalidad de poder desarrollar actividades educativas dirigidas principalmente a la población infantil, para que se pueda fomentar en colaboración con los sistemas educativos nacionales y otras instituciones públicas (Comunes) y privadas que organizan actividades dirigidas a la población infantil, el conocimiento de la producción agraria que se realiza en el país, generando así la posibilidad de desarrollar una actividad complementaria que pueda generar nuevos ingresos económicos para las explotaciones agrarias que desarrollen este tipo de actividades. - El año 2012 se aprueba el Reglamento que regula la actividad apícola, que tiene como objetivo establecer las condiciones para el desarrollo de esta actividad y fomentar la producción de miel y otros productos derivados de la miel, contribuyendo también a generar una mayor diversificación de la producción agraria nacional orientada a la producción de productos alimentarios. - El año 2018, en el marco de las acciones específicas incluidas en la Estrategia nacional del paysage y en la Estrategia nacional de la biodiversidad, se aprueba el Reglamento de ayudas al fomento de prácticas agrarias específicas para el mantenimiento del medio natural, que tiene como objetivo conceder ayudas a las explotaciones agrarias que destinen esfuerzos para mejorar terrenos destinados a usos agrarios, recuperar terrenos que estén abandonados, así como la aplicación de prácticas agrarias destinadas a favorecer la conservación de la biodiversidad vegetal en aquellas zonas consideradas de alto valor biológico mediante su recuperación y explotación de forma tradicional y sostenible. El importe de las ayudas económicas se establece en función de la dificultad del terreno teniendo en cuenta su capacidad de mecanización y su ubicación. - El año 2021 se aprueba el Reglamento relativo a la concesión de ayudas para bonificar el bienestar animal de las explotaciones ganaderas de bovino, un reglamento que tiene como objetivo principal conceder ayudas a aquellas explotaciones agrarias que desarrollan una actividad de producción y cría de animales de la especie bovina para la producción de carne. El reglamento establece un nuevo programa de ayudas públicas con la finalidad de que las explotaciones agrarias se adapten progresivamente a los criterios sobre los cuales se basa la evaluación del nivel de cumplimiento de los criterios de medida del bienestar de los animales de la especie bovina tomando como referencia el Welfare Quality assessment protocol for cattle®, desarrollado por diversas entidades científicas europeas, entre las cuales el IRTA (Institut de Recerca Tecnológica Agrària) de Cataluña y el INRAE (Institut National de Recherche pour l'Agriculture, l'Alimentation et l'Environnement) de Francia, adaptado al modelo productivo de Andorra y tiene como finalidad fomentar y incentivar que las explotaciones ganaderas bovinas en las que se crían animales bovinos para la producción de carne puedan adaptarse y cumplir este protocolo y se pueda iniciar durante los próximos años, un proceso de auditoría externa y certificación de este sector ganadero para que la carne que se obtiene y comercializa con el distintivo de "Carn de qualitat controlada d'Andorra" o con el distintivo de la "IGP Carn d'Andorra" pueda beneficiarse de un distintivo o sello de calidad complementario que permita comercializarla como una carne producida respetando el bienestar animal, de forma que la producción ganadera nacional se adapte a las nuevas formas de consumo, en las que los consumidores tienden cada vez a consumir menos carne y a adquirir carne de mayor calidad que ha sido producida mediante sistemas productivos en los que se toman en cuenta el bienestar animal. Este reglamento ha permitido destinar nuevas ayudas públicas adicionales al sector ganadero bovino, por un importe de 250.000€ durante los dos últimos años (2021 y 2022) y ya se está trabajando para poder hacer extensivo este nuevo programa de ayudas públicas al resto del sector ganadero nacional que se dedica a la producción y cría de ganado ovino, caprino y equino para la producción de carne. En complemento a todos estos programas de ayudas destinados a favorecer la continuidad y perdurabilidad del sector primario, también cabe destacar la creación a principis de la década del 2000 de la sociedad Ramaders d'Andorra S.A., una sociedad participada por el Gobierno y que con el paso de los años ha permitido integrar y agrupar a todos los ganaderos del país, para establecer una estructura que tiene como objetivo poder valorizar los productos cárnicos obtenidos a partir de la cría y engorde del ganado bovino, equino, ovino y caprino que se produce en las explotaciones ganaderas de todo el país y que tiene como misión la compra de los animales a los ganaderos para su posterior transformación, distribución y comercialización a nivel nacional. La sociedad se encarga al mismo tiempo de gestionar la compra agrupada del alimento concentrado (pienso) que se destina al proceso final de engorde del ganado, generando así un mejora considerable de los costes asociados a este proceso además de garantizar un control y trazabilidad absoluta de todo el proceso productivo des de la granja hasta la mesa de manera que se pueda garantizar que las carnes que se ponen en el mercado a disposición de los consumidores se han obtenido de acuerdo con los criterios reglamentarios establecidos que regulan su producción bajo métodos tradicionales y evitando el uso de sustancias que favorecen el crecimiento y engorde de los animales de forma artificial (factores o hormonas de crecimiento, respecto de los límites de supresión de medicamentos administrados a animales que puedan enfermar, etc.). Para complementar las alternativas a la producción agraria, el año 2018 se aprueba la Ley 18/2018, del 26 de julio de la producción ecológica y de los regímenes de calidad de los productos agrarios y alimentarios, estableciendo un nuevo marco legislativo para favorecer el desarrollo de la agricultura ecológica, ordenando al mismo tiempo, todo el marco reglamentario desarrollado a lo largo de los últimos 20 años que regula la producción agraria destinada a producir productos agrarios de calidad y de proximidad. En el marco del desarrollo de esta ley se aprueban diversos reglamentos entre los cuales los siguientes: - El año 2020 se aprueba el Reglamento relativo a la producción agraria ecológica que supone la integración al ordenamiento jurídico andorrano de la normativa de la Unión Europea que regula la producción ecológica (Reglamento UE 2018/848 i actos derivados), estableciendo un marco jurídico equivalente para favorecer la diversificación agraria nacional reforzando las políticas agrarias destinadas a favorecer el desarrollo de una agricultura que respeta el medio ambiente en base a criterios de sostenibilidad. - El año 2021 se aprueba el Reglamento relativo a la concesión de ayudas para fomentar la producción ecológica, estableciendo un nuevo programa de ayudas públicas adicionales destinadas a favorecer tanto el desarrollo de la producción agraria ecológica, como el desarrollo de nuevas actividades económicas que tienen como objetivo la elaboración de productos alimentarios ecológicos. En este sentido el reglamento establece un tipo de ayudas

	directas dirigidas exclusivamente al sector primario para la conversión a la implantación de métodos de producción agraria ecológica a proporción de 3.000€/hectarea y año, que una vez se ha superado el proceso de conversión y se ha obtenido la certificación correspondiente como productor ecológico, se mantienen a proporción de 2.000€/hectarea y año. Al mismo tiempo el reglamento establece también un sistema de ayuda indirecta del cual se pueden beneficiar tanto las explotaciones agrarias, como aquellas empresas que desarrollen actividades de transformación y elaboración de alimentos ecológicos y que consiste en que el estado asume la totalidad del coste de todo el proceso para la obtención de la certificación como productor ecológico, que obligatoriamente debe ser realizado por un organismo certificador externo independiente que esté oficialmente reconocido para llevar a cabo todo el proceso de auditoria y control del proceso productivo que permite identificar y comercializar los productos alimentarios ecológicos con el sello o distintivo oficial específicamente creado para estos productos, para que se puedan diferenciar en el mercado una vez son puestos a disposición del consumidor. - El año 2022 se aprueba el Reglamento sobre régimen de calidad controlada de Andorra y sobre los distintivos "Producte d'Andorra", "Producte elaborat a Andorra" y "Recepta Tradicional d'Andorra" aplicables a los productos agrarios y alimentarios, un reglamento que actualiza todo el marco reglamentario que define el proceso productivo de los productos agrarios que se producen en el país bajo sistemas productivos regulados en los que se priman las prácticas agrarias tradicionales, el respeto del medio ambiente y la sostenibilidad, creando tres distintivos o sellos oficiales para poder identificar aquellos productos que son producidos y elaborados íntegramente en el país reforzando de esta manera el marco jurídico existente para garantizar el origen de estos productos de manera que se fomente el consumo de productos de proximidad (km 0). Durante el año 2022, también se aprueba la Ley 31/2022, del 21 de julio, para el desarrollo y la diversificación de los sectores ganadero y agrícola, una ley omnibus que modifica diversos marcos legislativos existentes y que tiene como principal finalidad favorecer el desarrollo y la diversificación del sector primario. En este sentido esta ley modifica el marco legislativo referente a la ordenación del territorio y el urbanismo a efectos de facilitar el desarrollo y la implantación de nuevas infraestructuras destinadas a usos ganaderos y agrarios. También se modifica la ley de alojamientos turísticos, creando una nueva categoría de establecimientos agroturísticos que exclusivamente pueden desarrollar las explotaciones agrarias y que tiene como objetivo favorecer el desarrollo del agroturismo a efectos de poder diversificar las fuentes de ingresos del sector primario. La ley también modifica el marco legislativo vigente referente al uso de singos de estado y de marcas, a efectos de que se refuerze este marco legislativo para poder disponer de herramientas jurídicas que permitan evitar aquellas prácticas comerciales que pueden inducir a crear confusión al consumidor en relación a l'origen y a la procedencia de los productos agrarios y alimentarios que se encuentran en el mercado nacional, garantizando así que los productos agrarios y alimentarios que son producidos en Andorra puedan disponer de un marco jurídico que los protega mejor frente de este tipo de intrusismos. Se modifica también el marco legislativo referente al comercio, a efectos de simplificar los procesos administrativos para la comercialización de los productos agrarios, favoreciendo la posibilidad de que las explotaciones agrarias puedan desarrollar actividades de venta directa de los productos que producen sin la necesidad de figurar inscritas al registro de comercio y por lo tanto evitando así las cargas fiscales asociadas al desarrollo de las actividades del comercio. Cabe resaltar que esta ley modifica también la Ley de agricultura y ganadería del 2000, en particular por lo que se refiere a los programas de ayudas públicas destinadas al sector agrario y ganadero, estableciendo que las ayudas se actualizan anualmente en función del incremento interanual del Índice de Precios al Consumo (IPC), garantizando de esta manera que las ayudas destinadas al sector primario se incrementen en función de la evolución del coste de la vida y por lo tanto permitan que el sector pueda hacer frente al incremento de los costes directos que debe soportar para el desarrollo de sus actividades. Finalmente conviene también mencionar la creación el año 2014, des del Departamento de Agricultura del Gobierno de Andorra en colaboración con los productores locales, del distintivo "Productos Agrícolas y Artesanos de Andorra" un distintivo que se creó con la finalidad de poder agrupar y desarrollar acciones de promoción de todos los productores locales, haciendo cargo el estado del coste asociado a todas aquellas actividades de comunicación y marketing de los productores que voluntariamente se quisieron adherir a este proyecto, así como de la financiación, conjuntamente con los comunes y otras entidades públicas, del coste de la organización de eventos diversos (mercados, ferias, degustaciones gastronómicas, etc.) para poder dar a conocer a la población nacional y los turistas que visitan el país (8 millones de visitantes anuales) los productos agrarios y alimentarios que se producen en el país. Esta iniciativa se ha consolidado plenamente y hoy cuenta con más de 30 productores locales que se han adherido al proyecto y se está trabajando para crear el marco jurídico para que este distintivo "Productos Agrícolas y Artesanos de Andorra" se convierta en una marca de garantía o certificación y por lo tanto los productos agrarios y alimentarios producidos en Andorra puedan convertirse en un emblema nacional que ayude a fomentar la valorización de todos aquellos productos agrarios y alimentarios que son producidos por parte de nuestros productores locales .

El reglamento impone una formación obligatoria para obtener el "carnet de aplicador y manipulador de productos fitosanitarios" para todas aquellas personas que desarrollan actividades profesionales en las que se puedan utilizar productos fitosanitarios y establece, de acuerdo con las listas de sustancias activas para uso fitosanitario de la Unión Europea, una lista de sustancias activas que están prohibidas para cualquier uso en la totalidad del territorio nacional y una lista de sustancias activas que se prohíben para su uso específico en los cultivos agrarios. El reglamento también facilita instrucciones sobre la información que debe constar en el etiquetado de los productos fitosanitarios. Las listas de productos fitosanitarios que están prohibidos o que no se pueden utilizar para usos agrarios se actualizan periódicamente en función de la evolución que sufre la regulación de estos productos en la Unión Europea. La última modificación de estas listas se produjo el año 2021 adoptando la prohibición de la importación y el uso tanto profesional como doméstico de productos que pudieran contener glifosato de manera que la prohibición de esta sustancia quedó prohibida totalmente con anterioridad a su prohibición por parte de la Unión Europea. Al mismo tiempo, con esta última actualización, se añaden 90 nuevas sustancias que no se pueden utilizar en el ámbito agrario, entre las cuales determinados productos que pudieran contener neocotinoideos por la relación provada entre el uso de estas sustancias insecticidas y su impacto en la disminución de la población de insectos polinizadores.
